

PHILOSOPHY

STIMULATE YOUR MIND — ASK THE QUESTIONS THAT OTHERS TAKE FOR GRANTED OR FIND TOO DIFFICULT TO PONDER.

Philosophy majors examine basic questions about topics like the nature of reality and knowledge. Through discussion and debate, they uncover the hidden truths of our society.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

The journey to obtain your Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy will teach you how to think, not what to think. This major encourages critical and systematic inquiry into fundamental questions of right and wrong, truth and falsehood, and the meaning of life.

ASK THE BIG QUESTIONS.

What does it mean to be human? What is knowledge? How should we conduct ourselves? Tackling broad questions like these — through the abstract reasoning — will teach you to think critically while enhancing your ability to express ideas. Additionally, learning to view problems from multiple perspectives is excellent preparation for the GRE, MCAT, and LSAT — opening doors to virtually an career.

EXCEPTIONAL RETURNS

Not only are our students well prepared for the rigors of graduate school (we boast a 100% placement rate), they see impressive salaries. You can expect a median mid-career salary of $81,200.*

*Payscale.com

LOGIC AND ARGUMENTS. DISCUSSIONS AND DEBATES.

Whether about ethics, religion, politics, art, knowledge, truth, or reality, philosophical thinking is all around us.

JOIN TOGETHER —

Share your thoughts and ideas with others who are as passionate as you are. Our campus Philosophy Club operates as a community forum in which ideas and texts are thoroughly explored.

EXPLORE RELEVANT TOPICS —

Philosophy isn't all about what ancient thinkers pondered about years ago, philosophical issues are prevalent all across pop culture. In your courses, you'll dive into our societal beliefs and how they influence our actions on a conscious and subconscious level.

TAKE YOUR STUDIES WITH YOU —

Your studies aren't limited to the confines of the classroom. You're encouraged to apply the reasoning and communication skills that you've acquired in all aspects, like in an internship or study abroad opportunity.

“Philosophy changes your way of thinking to the point where it is impossible to not think philosophically anymore; once you begin studying it, you're going to immediately notice a difference in the complexity of the questions you ask.”

— Ryan Young '15;
*Finance Assistant,
JBT FoodTech*